Spending The Unexpected Night Out—After a Forced Landing or Backcountry Emergency

A lot of survival kits look good...right up until you actually need them. Aimed at both pilots and backcountry travelers, this talk focuses on the first 24 hours—what to prioritize, what to carry, and what actually works when things don't go as planned. Join us in Truckee for another edition of the Fly Safe Seminar Series. Returning to the Fly Safe stage this month is wilderness medicine expert and local CFII Howard Donner alongside his friend and creator of The Finer Points, Jason Miller. Jason and Howard will share stories from their own off-field landings and survival situations to help prepare you for your next adventure. This event is not to be missed by anyone who ventures out into the wilderness.

About The Speakers

Jason Miller is the creator of The Finer Points, a YouTube channel and podcast that develops systems and courses to help pilots improve their flying. Howard Donner is a seasoned professional with a diverse background in high-altitude and expedition medicine. He is also an MD and CFII.
