Carole Sesko, KTRK's Art Coordinator is presenting an "Art Talk" featuring 3 local artists currently on display at the Truckee Tahoe Airport, April 23 – July 23, 2018.

Ken Mann is a self taught artist who works in pencil, pastel, pen and ink. Ken enjoyed a career as a professional land surveyor and forester. He is intrigued by encountering traces of man's ventures in remote settings as evidenced by old habitations and workings.

Lewis Kawecki resides on the north shore of Lake Tahoe and is inspired by an affinity for the natural beauty he sees around the area. He rediscovered his true passion for art when he started taking painting classes in 2011, beginning with acrylics, and moving into oils and encaustics.
